

Ruffing Auction Classroom Projects 2016

Congratulations to all the students, teachers, and parent volunteers who worked so hard on this year's Auction Classroom Projects! This year's Coordinators were Sarah Antonetti and Nancy Stickney. The projects were a huge success. Some classes made individual items sold before the auction, others worked on a group project sold at the auction, and some did a combination of both. Enjoy the following samples of each project!

Helga Werner's class made a lemonade stand and individual face-hand artwork.

Debbie Butterfield's class created sets of handmade coasters with students' photos, artwork, and handprints.

Dawn Liston's class created a framed, fingerprinted image of the Cleveland skyline, as well as individual sets of notecards with the fingerprinted skyline.

Patty Ann Allen's class created sets of 10 individualized note cards and envelopes with the children's faces surrounded by their own artwork.

Patty Allen's class created a memento with wood-engraved drawings of each of the children, as well as individual key chains with family pictures.

Mary Sutphin's class created a 24"x30" "Live Laugh Love" collage canvas featuring the children and teachers as the letters. They also made individual time capsules.

Siri Holm-Losacano's class made sets of 10 individualized note cards and envelopes with the children's faces surrounded by their own artwork.

Libby Whipple's class painted a Ruffing cornhole set with added handprints.

The 6th grade class made "Giant Jenga."

The 7th grade class donated a wagon full of family games.

The 8th grade class designed and cut glass-etched vases for personalized keepsakes.

Thanks again to all who participated and congratulations on the projects!
